FREEZE DRIED ICE CREAM

01 INTRODUCTION

Freeze dried ice cream are delicious snacks that are produced during a process called lyophilization. During this process about 97% of the water is lost and the ice cream becomes crispy and crunchy.

02 QUALITY

There are variety of ice creams can be freeze dried in which effects the quality of the final product however the taste are not always the same even though they may have the same texture and color. For that we use the best ice creams in the market to freeze dry in order to reach our customers demands.

03 VARIETY

There are many flavors of different freeze dried ice cream we produce and each package contains different flavor.

04 ADVANTAGES

Due to the process of lyophilization the expiry date of the product has been increased to 1 year without the need to be stored in freezer or refrigerator.

From toddlers to grandparents, from the hottest days of summer to the coldest days of winter it can be great replacement for unhealthy snacks to enjoy in your trips, picnic, mountain climbing and other daily activities

05 Notes

Keep in mind that even with all its features, this product is susceptible to moisture and exposure to normal room temperature for a long time can lead to the loss of crispiness of the product. So in order to preserve its taste and texture always store the product in a sealed bag or closed jar for protection
